Day After Day, Week in and Week Out We Talk Goods and Prices Until People Are Apt to Take the Store For Granted and Accept For a Fact That We Have Whatever They Happen to Need. We Insist That Everything Here Shall be Exactly as Represented and When We Say That, We Lift the Business Above the Common Place.

FIREWORKS!

Just now the boys especially are beginning to think about what they are going to do on the "Fourth." Well we have thought of that too, and have laid in a big supply of FIREWORKS. Now make the glorious Fourth a lively day and the night resplendent with glowing displays. We have a big variety. All kinds, for little and big people. This "FOURTH" especially we are going to celebrate in the good old style.

REFRIGERATORS.

The hot weather makes you think of refrigerators, doesn't it? Do you know what a good refrigerator is? It is one that consumes little ice, is nicely finished and scientifically made. That's the kind we sell. Come and look at them.

SCREENS.

Are your screens up? Fly time is here again and you certainly want your house protected. You can't get the screens up any too soon. All kinds of screen doors, wire netting and adjustable window screens. You need all of them, and here is the place to get them.

JELLY TUMBLERS.

The careful housewife is beginning already to fill her shelves with preserves and jellies and of course will need Jelly Tumblers and Mason Jars. We have them here at bottom prices. Jelly Tumblers 18, 20 and 22c. per dozen, with tin lids.

HAMMOCKS.

Big enough and strong enough for two as well as one. Beautiful colors and stylish and attractive in the weave. The prettiest hammocks as well as the best made.

ICE CREAM FREEZERS.

Just the thing you want now. They are so useful at this season of the year, to make the dainty ices, sherbets and ice cream. Water Coolers, Ice Shredders, Ice Picks, and many other things to help you to keep cool in hot weather.

A BIG BARGAIN.

What do you think of a Wash Wringer for 90c? That's what we have here. The Star Wringer, a good Wringer for that price.

COW EASE.

Saves you money, for it keeps the cows from being disturbed by the flies while they are feeding, consequently they get more feed, also keeps the flies away during milking time. Perfectly harmless and secures the best results.

FRESH GROCERIES.

Always in stock. The highest price paid for Eggs and market price for butter. Give us your trade and you will save money.

PROHIBITIONISTS SCORE OLD PARTIES

CONDEMN REPUBLICANS' NOMINATION OF SUPPORTER OF THE LIQUOR BILL.

Convention Was Largely Attended by Delegates From All Parts of the State—The Ticket Nominated.

"We have a platform that is a scorching indictment of the Democratic party," said one of the delegates to the State Prohibition Convention to a reporter for the COMPILER, last Wednesday afternoon, as he came out of Xavier Hall, "but it does not do the Republican party up the back and scores their ineptitude right and left."

There is no mistaking the fact that, in the two columns of platform and resolutions adopted by the convention, the Republican party was severely arraigned. Speaking of the liquor bill, the resolutions say: "We regard it as the very root of unbridled pauperism on the part of the public press to hold Governor Pennypacker—the dole creature of a malevolent master—alone responsible for it, and it is the duty of the Republican party to be the choice of the Republican party."

It is to be remembered that one of the present State candidates of the Republican party is a man who supported the liquor bill, and that, but for the legislators who voted for it, the Governor would not have had the opportunity for mischief which his party furnished him. The lastard list at the doorsteps of the Republican party. Let us in future condemn him, not in shame alone. If the press of the State is half sincere it will not stultify itself by supporting the candidacy of William P. Snyder who voted for it."

And this is the platform speaks of the present State administration, "We point, not with pride, but with the deepest sorrow, shame and humiliation to the present State administration as the very flower and culmination of Republican domination, official iniquity, base and insolent perversity. It is the duty of the Republican party to be the choice of the Republican party."

The following ticket was nominated Wednesday afternoon: Judges of the Superior Court, Herbert G. Ames, Lloyd C. Gentry, and M. H. Stevenson, of Allegheny county; Auditor General, Elsie Kent Kane, of McKean county; State Treasurer, H. D. Patton, of Lancaster; The State Executive Committee, was empowered to fill all vacancies.

A WOMAN'S STORY OF THE BATTLE

INCIDENTS IN THE EXPERIENCE OF ONE FAMILY DURING THAT AWFUL TIME.

A Retrospect of the Scenes of These Three Thrilling Days of July 1863—Sights Never to be Forgotten.

It was a quiet, plain old town upon which the July sun shone. It had been built after the old-country style by the early Scotch-Irish settlers, with the court-house in the center. This was afterwards removed one block to the south, but the central circle remained, called the Diamond or Square. From the Diamond, in mathematical precision, stretched the four principal streets running toward the four points of the compass. The houses were set close to the sidewalks, with little space between—forming companionship, perhaps, for there was no room for a town lawn. A stranger, the town might have been termed ugly, notwithstanding; but let him linger long enough to miss the homelike beauty, to enter the literary circle created by the Scotch-Irish and the old school, to enjoy a typical scene of those former days; let him wander to the surrounding hills and catch the panorama of fertile valley and the blue of mountain, lighted by the famous sunsets. It was indeed an interesting old borough, with a remarkable history yet to be unfolded. Years before the eventful "31" a Frenchman, called the "old" Frenchman, exclaimed: "What a hell for a battle!" It became the American Waterloo.

A Peaceful Valley.

This was truly a peaceful valley, in which was set this sleepy town, very near to the Mason and Dixon line, and almost on the ridge dividing the Susquehanna and Potomac valleys. Roads from Baltimore, Harrisburg, York, Carlisle and other towns were here; hence it was that the two armies, moving unexpectedly, and each following the other in attempt to reach this unimportant place, found it a most important place.

It was after 4 p. m., when Dr. Godfrey came out of the front door of the substantial house at the corner of Baltimore and the Strasburg road. The hour had been one of distressing excitement. That morning, July 1st, the opening engagement had taken place on Seminary Ridge, to the west of the town. At 9.30 skirmishing began between the cavalry commands by General Buford and the advancing rebels. At 10 the artillery opened and a little later the first corps under General Reynolds dashed through the town, advancing to meet the rebel forces. The rebels, following by the Strasburg road, were met by the arrival of Buford, were faced by a solid wall of our brave men numbering 8,000. For hours the smaller force held its position. Intrepid Reynolds, he said, "Do not tell me, so I shall not be able to answer any questions, but tell me, if you can, what the rebels were doing, and what the result was?"

Bravely as the Union forces held their own against trying odds, at last it was the rebels who retreated to Cemetery Hill, the choice position to the south, which had been selected early in the day by General O. Howard, next in seniority to General Reynolds. Three days previous General Meade had been appointed to the command of the Army of the Potomac, but he did not arrive at Gettysburg until just before midnight Thursday, July 2nd, although General Hancock, designated to succeed General Meade, arrived in the midst of the fight and supplied himself to the task of restoring order among the troops. Pell-mell our men had retreated through the town, the wounded seeking shelter and succor.

Preparation For the Fourth of July.

It was thought of others that sent Dr. Godfrey into the confused streets that afternoon. A man in the prime of life, fair, smooth shaven, with clear, deep blue eyes, firm mouth and serene expression, he stood ready to fulfill his duty in time of turmoil as well as in the quiet classic atmosphere of his recitation. He was a man of great calmness and assurance. General Early was marching along with bluster and self-importance. Shipping, he raised his finger and said: "I know you. I saw you up at that window last Friday." It was then that he, with a band of cavalry yelling like savages and firing pistols, and made a raid into the town and demanded enormous supplies, amounting to $6,000. But the supplies had previously been removed, and the money, too, so that the demand remained unsatisfied. On that Friday afternoon Dr. Godfrey and his wife had watched the proceeding from a second-story window, and the attention, owing to his resemblance to a United States Congressman, had been unpleasantly marked. The Rebel General's mind, Early's other duties, however, forbade investigation, just then, and the Doctor moved on to make a few steps beyond, one of his friends, an army surgeon on parole, who greeted his old professor warmly, and then introduced his companion, Dr. Ward, of Wisconsin.

"Oh, I am glad to find you just at this moment," said Dr. Godfrey. "Won't you come with me? There are twenty wounded men in my dining-room floor. During the retreat forty soldiers

RAMBLING THROUGH MT. HOLLY PARK

COL. PATRICK RUSS, OF HARRISBURG, BEAUTIFIES THE PLACE.

With a party of some thirty or forty newspaper men from Harrisburg and Carlisle, your humble servant recently enjoyed one of the most pleasant outings of his life, rambling about the hills, breathing the pure air and drinking the delicious water of one of the most beautiful spots in the South Mountain. Years ago there was a park near the town of Mt. Holly Springs, nestled at the entrance of a narrow valley on the south side of the South Mountain, six miles from Carlisle, but it was not until Col. Patrick Russ, of Harrisburg, had established there within the last four years. Not so long ago Mt. Holly was a place sought out by some of the finest families of the State and the people who were here to enjoy the beauties of the place.

Col. Russ has really done what makes him famous as his discovery of Mt. Holly Springs. No one knows how long the kept secret his discovery, but it was not more than four years ago that he started to work the mine that has furnished pleasure to thousands and we hope some profit to himself. A company was chartered and a building built from which the Col. has been building the road to Mt. Holly. The Col. has been most of the company and his firm belief in the substantial that made the road is today. The other night when the newspaper men here the landscape from Carlisle to Mt. Holly they were taken to Carlisle in eleven minutes. The car ran like a Pullman, so solidly is the road built. It is substantial in every particular. The road is a fine example of the Col. Russ's plan—only the best material into your railroad and build it to last a hundred years, or more. The road is a fine example of the Col. THOUGHTS AND THINGS.

Each in His Own Tongue.

A fire, mist and a planet. A crystal and a votive. A jellyfish and a snail. And caves where the ocean dwelt; Then a scene of law and beauty. And a face turned from the east. Some call it evolution. And others call it God.

A scene on the far horizon. The Titanic leaping. The first, rich tints of the comets. And all over again, night and day, the stars are shining. The charm of the golden-brown of a sunset. And others call it God.

Like the tide on a crescent sea beach, When the moon is new and thin, Two our hearts high yearning. Come, wedding and singing in. Come from the night ocean. These things we have had. Some of us call it God. And others call it God.

The cold water party has come and gone, and of course we have to say that they have been their very best. But having indulged freely here upon nature liquid. There is quite a distinction between a prohibition convention and that of the other political parties. There were large numbers of ladies present and singing of hymns and songs. There is no singing during the sessions of the political conventions of Republicans and Democrats but there may be tunes sung afterwards by the successful and the disappointed, but they are not sung in the Convention House.

These cold water advocates certainly seem to have the right point of view scientifically. It is only when they make out of it a political issue that they run counter to the political opinions of many other citizens. The scientists have demonstrated that it is only possible to have a healthy body by drinking water freely. The human body contains about three-fourths water and most of the arteries used as food contain the same quantity or more of water. The body has been said to be a factory of poisons which can only be eliminated by water drunk freely. (As a physician was heard to put it, that there are less people who are particular about bathing themselves, washing their hands and faces, but never realize the inside needs as much bathing and washing to get rid of impurities and can only get it by drinking plenty of water.)

It has been demonstrated by the scientists that there are no substitutes for water; that tea, coffee, milk, beer, etc., do not answer the same purpose for they are not water. Water is the only liquid that is separated from the liquid can be used by the system. Two quarts of water, pure as nature can give it, or distilled, is as to remove all impurities, is the quantity which scientists have demonstrated ought to be taken each day by the system. It is to be remembered that while we may differ politically with the prohibitionists on many of their ideas and remedies, yet lack of it is the cold water debate about which there can be no difference.

It may be opportune to recall that the number of losses in force before the State Prohibition Convention this year, was among the first counties in the State to have a large number of votes. The prohibitionists at public meetings, this being done fifteen years in advance of any legislation in the State of Maryland. The prohibitionists have been said to be the first demand of the kind in Pennsylvania. It was in 1853 that the first public temperance meeting was held in this place in the Court House. It was held in 1853 that the first public temperance meeting was held in this place in the Court House. INTERESTING SONG CONTEST.

County Song, Written by Mrs. Florence Michener, Selected by Judges.

The fourth 11. T. L. county meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Michener, on the Strasburg road, on Wednesday evening, June 12. The meeting was public and there was a large and interested audience.

The program consisted of reports from the different leagues, recitations, songs, and a song contest. The songs were selected by the judges, and the contest was won by Mrs. Michener's song, "The Star Wringer."

The following is the song written by Mrs. Michener, which was chosen as the County Song:

And for temperance we stand, We'll always show our colors brave, And work with all our might, For the good of our country, For the good of our country, For the good of our country.

The song was sung by Mrs. Michener, and the judges awarded her the first prize.
